

John Cook's Venture Blog

Roundup: Whitepages, renewable energy grad, etc.

Posted by John Cook John Cook at August 8, 2008 7:03 a.m.

- A former Boeing worker is the first person in the country to graduate with a degree in Renewable Energy Systems. Tim Bailey, who previously spent 15 years at Boeing, earned the four-year degree from the Oregon Institute of Technology. Bailey, 42, tells The Oregonian that he quit Boeing to pursue the degree because "renewable energy is like a new frontier."